

Lower Burrell Electronic Recycling Information Update–

October 2016

Due to recent changes in the electronics recycling market, there are updates to available residential options of television recycling.

The following electronics recycling options currently exist locally. We recommend contacting the business directly for any policy updates upon recycling.

1. Staples still will take many non-TV electronic items for free; including computers and monitors.
2. Best Buy will no longer accept televisions or computer monitors in PA. Most other electronics are still accepted for free.
3. Guardian Storage (Fox Chapel, 1390 Old Freeport Rd 412-826-7368). Free Electronics Recycling & accepts flat monitors/TV's up to 40". (No CRT/tube style)
4. eLoop (Plum Industrial Park, 1-877-801-6057). Accepts many electronics including televisions; many items have a fee (please call for current pricing)
5. Shank Sanitation – is no longer able to accept electronics.
6. Westmoreland Cleanways (Latrobe, PA) - will accept many electronics including televisions for free. Visit www.westmorelandcleanways.org or call 724-879-4020 for details.

Additional recycling event options that occur locally:

7. Pennsylvania Resource Council – Annual Spring Recycling event for electronics has occurred in recent years at Pittsburgh Mills (see web site at prc.org for details & fees - PRC is accepting TV's for a fee)
8. Lower Burrell Recycling Day – starting in 2016, the electronics recycling portion will NO longer be available in conjunction w/ event. Please check city web site about a month prior to recycling day for possible updates; as we continue to review potential participants at future recycling events.
